

Solidarity Day

The Time for Us to Unite is NOW!

every 1st & 3rd
Wednesday

1) When you see a sister or brother on campus, speak to them and acknowledge their presence.

2) Understand that you are a unique part of this campus, community and heritage; without you it will not work!

3) Do not look away when a sister or brother approaches you.

4) When you support your sisters and brothers it does not mean you're anti anyone else.

5) Ask your brother or sister how they're doing; be optimistic and positive.

6) Be proactive and encourage your sisters and brothers to wear black on every 3rd Wednesday of the month.

7) Let's show the world that when we collectively put our minds together, we can be successful, we can do anything; let's start with this initiative.

8) Sisters respect your sisters and brothers; brothers respect your brothers and sisters. If we can not do it at this level, we never will be able to achieve respect for one another.

"There can be no black-white unity until there is first some Black unity... We cannot think of uniting with others, until after we have first united among ourselves. We cannot think of being acceptable to others until we have first proven acceptable to ourselves
